Profile

The 2016 side

She captained the Harambee Starlets and was one of the central figures of the team that qualified for and played at the 2016 Africa Women Cup of Nations in Cameroon.

CECAFA

The same generation reached the 2016 CECAFA Women's Championship final and won the title in 2019.

Why she is here

The women who held that dressing room together are the reason there is a professional generation at all — they proved the team could qualify before anyone was willing to fund it.

Did you know

The team that qualified before anybody funded it

She captained the Starlets at the 2016 Africa Women Cup of Nations, Kenya's first, and was part of the side that reached the CECAFA final that year. Every professional contract a Kenyan woman has signed since sits on the back of that campaign, played without a professional league, a training base or a budget worth the name.
